

Fact Sheet
on the Labour Market Indicators
2010 – 2013

May 2014

The annual Employment Survey is a tool used by the Government to track and evaluate current employment trends in Bermuda. The labour market indicators presented in this abstract are based on the annual survey data collected between 2010 and 2013. Eight key indicators of the labour market are presented. They represent a response to the needs of government, commerce and the general public for relevant employment information and provide an emphasis on such trends as employment level, unemployment, age, hours of work, vacancies, income and occupation employment level.

Contained in this report are a set of indicators for the four major status groups used to classify job holders for employment purposes: Bermudian, non-Bermudian Spouse of a Bermudian, other non-Bermudian and permanent resident. The decision to provide indicators on the basis of Bermudian status reflects the trend by employers of recruiting non-Bermudians to fill skilled and non-skilled positions as recorded by the annual Employment Survey. A set of indicators for the total job market is also presented.

All indicators reflect the employment situation at the Employment Survey reference week typically the week that encompasses 31 August unless otherwise indicated.

Concepts and Definitions

Filled Positions

Total paid jobs in the Bermuda economy including full-time and part-time job holders.

Median Age

Median age is the mid-point age of all job holders that employers report in the survey. Half of all job holders fall below and above the mid-point age.

Average Weekly Hours Worked

Summary of total hours actually worked during the reference week divided by all job holders who worked that week.

Total Weekly Hours Worked

Summary of total hours typically worked in one week whether or not the job holder was at work.

Median Annual Gross Earnings

Annual earnings from employment before deductions from wages, salaries, commissions, bonuses, tips and earnings from self-employment. The median annual gross earnings is the annual level of gross income from employment where half of the job holders earn above the median level and half below.

Unemployment Rate

The percentage of persons between the ages of 16 and 64, who furnish the supply of labour in the production of goods and services, who were seeking work during the Census/Household Expenditure Survey/Labour Force Survey reference period.

Vacancies

All established positions that are not occupied by a job holder.
