

SERBIAN ROYAL COUPLE IN BERMUDA

HRH Crown Prince Alexander II and HRH Crown Princess Katherine of Serbia are presently vacationing in Bermuda, and the couple had high words of praise for the island, saying that they “fell in love” with Bermuda and that arriving here is like “arriving in another world.”

The couple has visited the island before, and are staying at the Fairmont Hamilton Princess, calling the hotel’s owner Peter Green a “dear friend” of theirs.

The Crown Prince said, “We’ve always liked coming here, visiting them, and also I like diving here – I haven’t done any diving this time – but Bermuda’s been so hospitable to both of us.”

When asked how he had discovered Bermuda for the first time, the Crown Prince first joked that he found it on the map, but then said, “I think that we discovered Bermuda very much thanks to Sir David and Lady Lully Gibbons.

“We had met many years ago and they said, ‘you’ve got to come visit Bermuda. So we came here and we fell in love with Bermuda immediately, it’s great.”

The Crown Princess said, “There’s something about Bermuda. I cannot exactly tell you what it is; every time I come, I think I’ll find the secret....I can’t.

“There’s something about this place that gives you a good feeling. First of all, the people are very hospitable, they’re happy to see you.”

“It’s a beautiful, beautiful island. And the location; let’s say from New York – you just come. But you arrive here and you think you’re on another planet, another world.”
